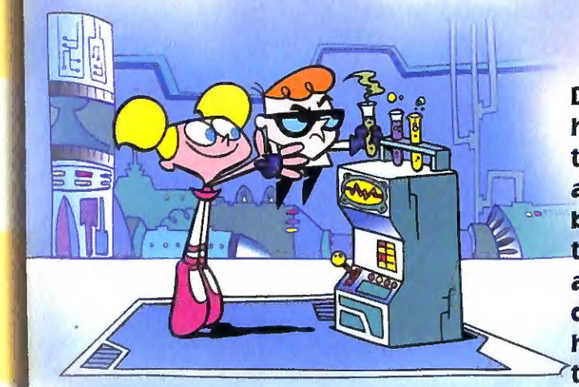
4 Ways To BE A GOOD BROTHER OR SISTER!

You're settled into your home, with your parents, your room, TV and video. Everything is just the way you like it. Then, disaster strikes – you get a new brother or sister. Is this the worst thing that could happen?

Siblings can have their uses. If life gets a little too hot under the collar, they're always there to help you out.

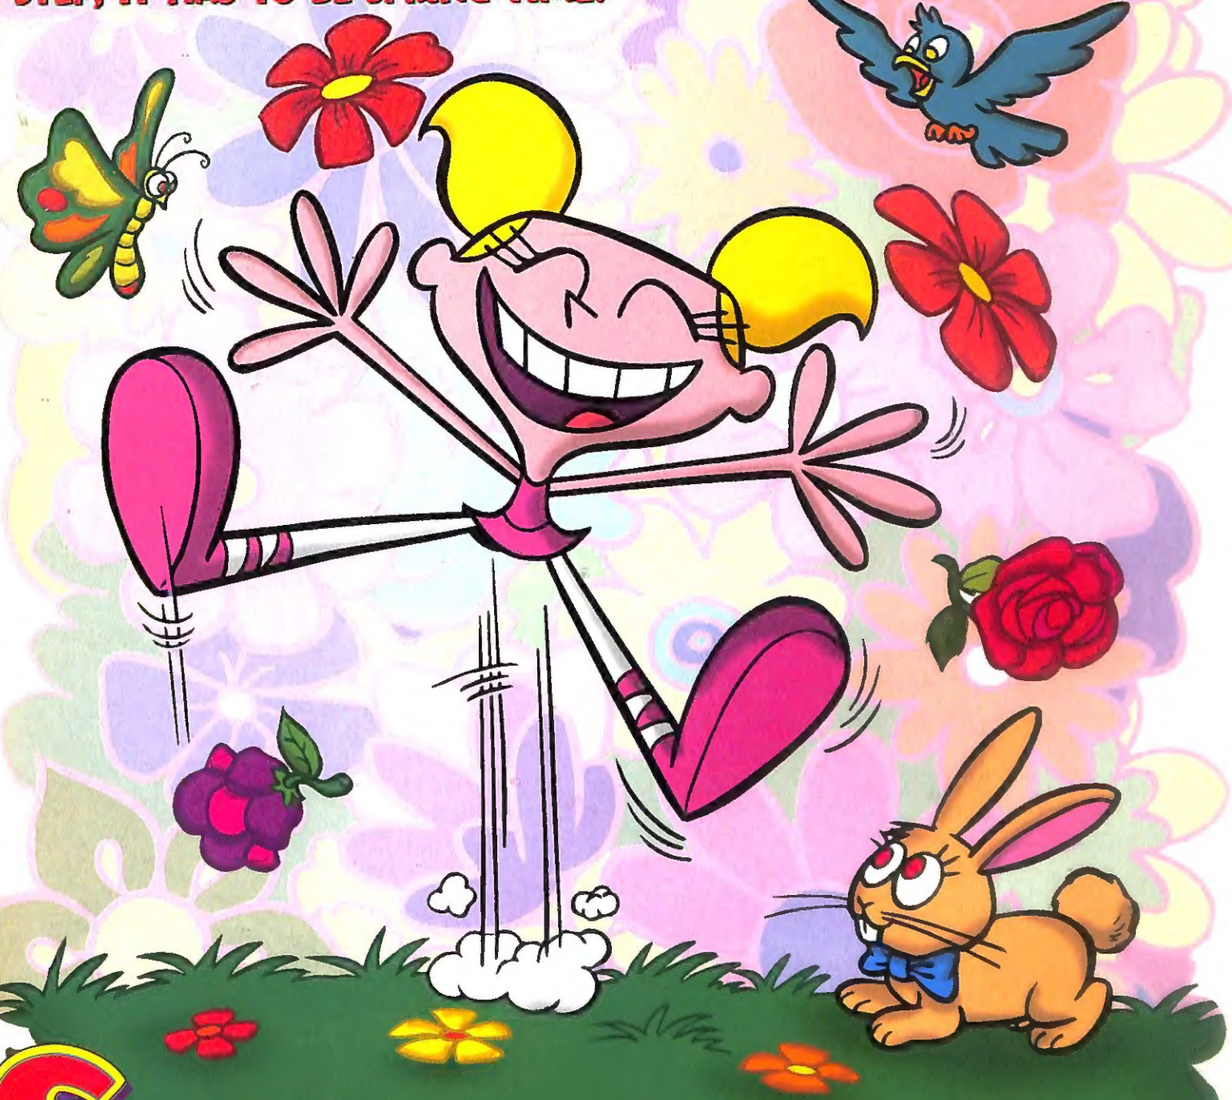


Different people have different talents. You can always use your brother or sister's talents to your advantage. It doesn't mean you have to talk to them or anything!

If you like your brother or sister (yeah, we know that's not very likely) it can be like having a friend around you 24 hours a day! You'll always have someone to play with...or blame if things go wrong!

However, if you don't get on with your brother or sister, you could be fighting 24 hours a day. But, as we've pointed out, siblings have their uses...especially as targets!

THE BIRDS ARE SINGING, THE GRASS IS GREEN, FLOWERS ARE BLOOMING, BUNNIES ARE HOPPING, DEE DEE HAS A SPRING IN HER STEP, IT HAS TO BE SPRING TIME!



Spring Time!

Dee Dee's favourite time of year is Spring Time. The world goes pink and flowery as all the pretty flowers start to bloom and the little lambs and bunnies are born. There's lots of grass to do cartwheels on and daisy chains to be made! Here, in Dee Dee's own words, is everything there is to know about Spring Time...

FLOWER FEVER

When Spring arrives, the world of nature awakens. Spring is a time of growth for little animals and pretty plants. Seeds and bulbs that are dormant through the cold months start to grow and push through the soil. Pretty flowers such as snowdrops and daffodils are the first signs that Winter is over. Vegetables start to grow so you can eat healthy food, no more burgers and crisps...it's salads from now on!

Fluffy bunnies and lambs are born and bounce about for me to play with! Because flowers are appearing and the world looks a much prettier place, other creatures start to appear as well. Bees, which I don't like very much because they can sting and hurt you, help new plants to grow....

THE GOD OF LURRVE

In Greek mythology there was a real hunk of a god called Adonis. But he had a goddess girlfriend called Aphrodite. Anyway, when he was dying after a fight with a wild boar, Adonis asked Aphrodite to plant red roses for him at his funeral and every Spring Time. Since then, Adonis has symbolised Spring and red roses have become symbolic of lurrve! He was a real dreamboat...just like someone else I could mention!

They do this by flying to a bright and colourful flower, sucking out its pollen and then putting that pollen in another flower. Voila! Another flower is made! And that's called pollination. See, I do know big words, Dexter! When the Spring wind blows, it helps the bees by blowing all the pollen around. But then that gives people hayfever and makes them sneeze. That's not so pretty.

CHANGING SEASONS

The seasons are determined by the position of the earth in relation to the sun. The earth turns round once during a year. So, in that year my little house, or your house, will completely face the sun only during the summer months. It will completely face away from the sun during the winter. When facing the sun we have more hours of daylight than when we don't face the sun. If you live on the other side of the world from me, you will have your summer when I have my winter! For people who live on my side of the world, there is one day which has the longest amount of daylight – June 21st, and in winter there is one day which has the shortest amount of daylight – December 21st.

Scooby-Doo fast snacks facts

Where there's a ghoulish mystery to be found, you can bet your Scooby Snacks that the Mystery Inc. gang won't be far behind. Though, of course, Scooby and Shaggy might be a bit further behind the others. Like, right at the back! Check out these facts...

1 The Scooby-Doo show was first shown on American TV screens on September 13th 1969.

2 When you encounter masked ghoulish villains who're you gonna call? Did you know that the 1984 film, Ghostbusters, inspired 'The 13 Ghosts of Scooby-Doo'? Spooky!

3 The show hasn't always been known as Scooby-Doo, Where Are You? The original titles were "Mysteries Five" and "Who's Scared?"

4 Over the years a whole host of additional characters have joined the gang on their many adventures including Scrappy Doo, Dusty, Yabba-Doo, Scooby Dum, Scooby-Dee, Vincent Van Ghoul, Flim Flam, Weerd and Bogel and Red Herring. Zoinks!

5 Daphne's father (who is rather wealthy) bought the team the Mystery Machine, the van which the Mystery Inc. gang travel around in. And spookily, the one front seat fits all.

6 It is commonly believed that Shaggy is Scooby, - but in human form, like, they both love nothing better than eating, eating and...well, eating and both share a not un-jelly-like style of bravery.

7 Shaggy was nicknamed Shaggy because of his mass of un-coiffured hair, but Networked! can reveal that he was born just plain ol' Norville Rogers!

It's Party Time and all is cool!
But as the revelry swings on,
The Party drags, there's something wrong.

Quite frankly, you just want to barf!

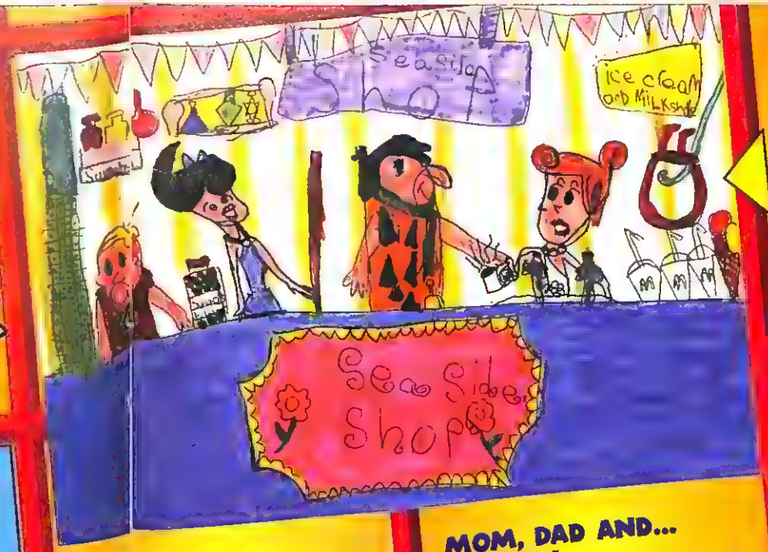
GIRLS POWERED!

Jack Hubert, aged 6 1/2 from Kent has drawn this picture of The Powerpuff Girls, who, once again, have saved the day!

Dear Cartoon Network,
I love watching the Powerpuff Girls because they combat lots of crime. I like the episode where Bubbles defeats MoJo JoJo all by herself and then Blossom and Buttercup break into MoJo JoJo's secret lab in the city of Townsville.
Blossom replies: We all think your picture is totally ace Jack! Anyway, gotta fly - that no good scoundrel MoJo JoJo is up to his tricks again!

TOP-TOON CAT

Looking like the cat who ate the cream, Top Cat as drawn by Kellie Homer aged 8 from Birmingham.

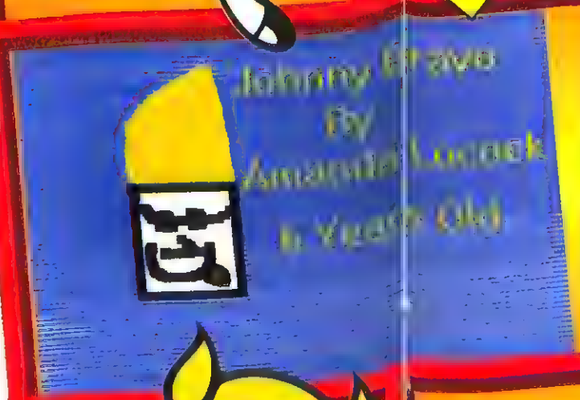


THE FLINTSTONES ROCK SHOP

Looks like The Flintstones are having an altogether sweet time at the seaside in Samuel Martin's picture. Samuel is aged 6 and comes from Leicester.

A PC JOHNNY

Oh, Mama! An alternative Johnny Bravo, as seen on Amanda Locock's computer screen!



MOM, DAD AND... CHICKEN

A snap shot of Mom and Dad with their knees up in front of the telly. In Sam Morris' picture Cow is nowhere to be seen!

KUNG-FU DEE DEE

Watch out, Dexter! Dee Dee has been taking menacing arts lessons from Hong-Kong Phooey and is on the lookout for a fight in Vicki Andrew's picture from Manchester.

THE MISSING STUPID DOG!

Sam Tree, aged 10 from Berlin, has sent in this bizarre picture of his extra-ordinary performing circus dog. Do you think that he saw 2 Stupid Dogs in their "Send in the Clowns" feature in Issue 8 and is now practising to be their third member?

Reach For The Skies!

Aeroplanes are great things. They have friendly cabin staff to look after you and serve you food and drink, you can watch movies, listen to music, you can even go to the toilet! And they take you from A to B with only your ears popping to tell you that you're moving! However, they weren't always so luxurious. Way back in time people were still figuring out how to invent aeroplanes...

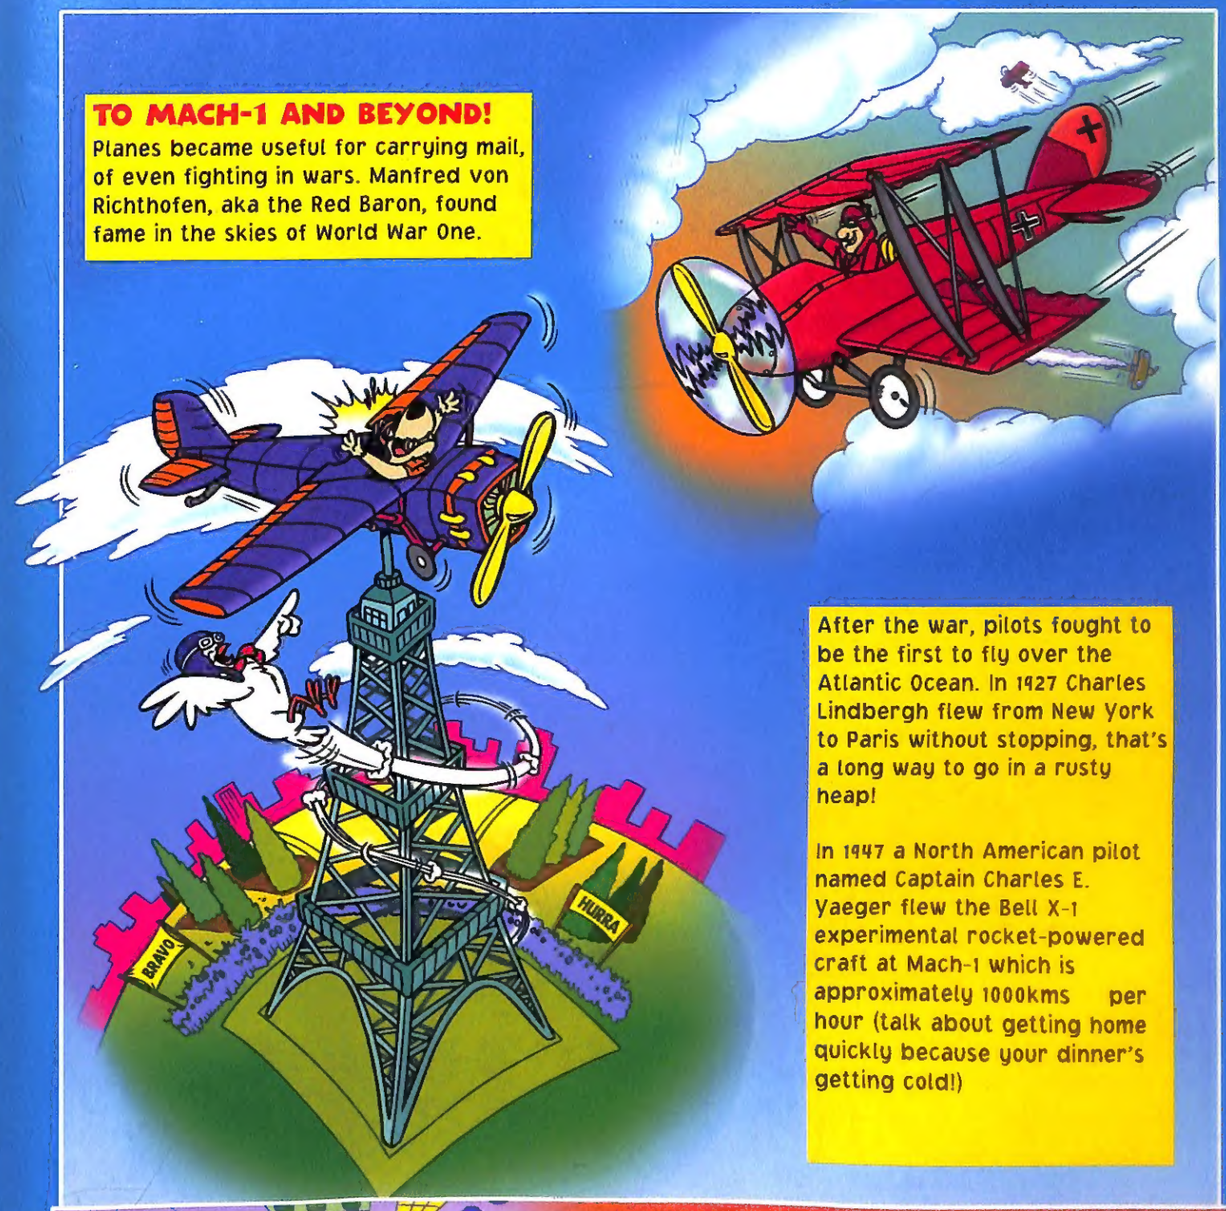
UP, UP AND AWAAAY!

Countless attempts were made to make a lump of material get off the ground and stay up in the air, but no-one managed it. You see, when you think about it, it's quite a bizarre idea. Who in their right mind would want to put a huge lump of metal full of people into the air?! Well, two brothers managed to do this for the first time ever in 1903 – Orville and Wilbur Wright. They very impressively flew their plane for a whole minute at a speed of ten kilometres an hour. It wasn't Concorde, but it was a start.

The Wright Brothers had accomplished the first ever aeroplane flight, but little did they know that aeroplanes would become so popular that entire cartoons would be based up on them?! More and more people were getting the hang of this aviation idea and in 1909 Luis Bleriot made his plane fly over the English Channel, without getting his tail wet! (Why doesn't someone just build a tunnel under the sea bed? They are? Oh.)

TO MACH-1 AND BEYOND!

Planes became useful for carrying mail, of even fighting in wars. Manfred von Richthofen, aka the Red Baron, found fame in the skies of World War One.



After the war, pilots fought to be the first to fly over the Atlantic Ocean. In 1927 Charles Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris without stopping, that's a long way to go in a rusty heap!

In 1947 a North American pilot named Captain Charles E. Yaeger flew the Bell X-1 experimental rocket-powered craft at Mach-1 which is approximately 1000kms per hour (talk about getting home quickly because your dinner's getting cold!)

THAT BUTTON MAKES THE TOAST!

Here we see the modern captain...well, Dick Dastardly pretending to be one, anyway! The cabins of modern airplanes are crammed with computers and electronics to fly through the night or in the middle of dangerous storms. So a pilot today has to spend years in training learning to fly. Sorry, Dick. We wouldn't trust you with a paper aeroplane!

The modern airport is an amazing place. If you've flown abroad for your hols, you'll know that the major airports around the world are like little towns. You can spend a full day there at the shops, sitting in the cafes or snack bars, or simply hanging out with your friends and watching the planes land and take off!
Of course, airports only run efficiently due to the diligence of the ground staff, people who have trained for years...unlike this bunch!

Aeroplanes of all sizes come and go from the Toon Airport. But it is advisable not to use any electronic devices near the Control Tower...Jerry? Did you hear that? Ah...please ignore the crashed jet sticking out of the airport building, this is merely a test exercise...honest!

2

OK

Behind the scenes, the planes are serviced by top engineers and...DON'T TOUCH THAT...Too late!

To help with modern security, metal detectors are placed at...whoah! A seven-bell alert! Mr Dastardly, will you please accompany me to...Mr Dastardly? Mr Dastardly!!!

GLOONK! ZEEEP! clup! GLUG!

Air Traffic Control is a very responsible job which requires a computer-quick mind and a clear speaking voice. Ah...well...um...

Because of weight restrictions, passengers on commercial flights can only bring a few pieces of luggage. Yes, Penelope, that does mean you!

To guide the planes onto the runway, someone has to stand there with a pair of ping-pong bats and wave them around. It seems Squiddly-Diddley understands this as much as I do!
